FORMER MASON COUNTY MAN DIES IN NEVADA

Mr. James G. Gault a Victim of Pneumonia—Was For Many Years a Resident of This County.

A telegram was received here Wednesday bringing the sad tidings of the death of a former well-known Mason county boy, James G. Gault, at his home in Fallon, Nevada, from pneumonia, brought on from influenza.

He was born in Pulaski county, Ky., January 17, 1880, but spent his life in Mason county until fourteen years ago, when he went west and settled at Fallon, Nevada.

He held a responsible position with the United States Reclamation Service and helped develop the great Carson sink from a desert waste to hundreds of acres of fertile farm lands. He saw the little hamlet of Fallon develop into a prosperous city.

He was high up in the Masonic order, holding the position of secretary of the state, Grand Lodge.

He married Miss Esther Petree of Fallon ten years ago, who with two small daughters, survive him; the brothers and sisters of the deceased are Jack L. Gault and Mrs. W. C. Slye of this city, Elmer D. Gault of New York City, Gordon Gault of Fallon, and Miss Louise Gault of San Francisco, besides hosts of relatives and friends in this county.

He had filled well the various relations of life as son, brother, husband, father and friend. Who can do more?

BIG GERMAN BATTLE FLEET QUITS TODAY

Americans to Witness the Collapse of Navy—Escaped Disaster Only By Refusing to Fight.

Harwich, November 20—Somewhere out in the misty expanse of the North Sea five American battle ships tonight took up their positions in a fifty-mile line of grayhounds which early tomorrow will witness the surrender of a powerful German surface fleet.

King George, Admirals Beatty, Sims and Rodman and a corps of more than 100 journalists and motion picture men, who will immortalize with pen, brush and camera the greatest naval display in all history, are on allied warships waiting to witness the last act in the collapse of the German navy.

Admiral Rodman, U. S. N., aboard the American battle ship New York, and Captain Beach, commander, will lead the American men of war—the Florida, Wyoming, Texas and Arkansas.

Germany's sea surrender began at dawn today when 27 U-boats gave themselves up to Admiral Reginald W.
Tyrwhitt's fleet of cruisers and destroyers 30 miles off this port and steamed into Harwich, led by British cruisers. Tonight the undersea serpents, deprived of their sting, lie anchored here, under the Union Jack.

Only meager crews, just sufficient to navigate them, took them out on their last journey under the German ensign, which was hauled down at the rendezvous.

The following account of the surrender of the submarines is given by an eye-witness of the incident. More than 80 other submarines are to be handed over to the allied naval command before the end of the week.

After steaming some 20 miles across the North Sea the Harwich forces, which consisted of five light cruisers, and 20 destroyers, were sighted. The flagship of Admiral Tyrwhitt, the commander, was the Curacao. High above the squadron hung a big observation balloon.

The squadron, headed by the flagship, then steamed toward the Dutch coast, followed by the Coventry, Dragon, Danal and Centaur. Other ships followed in line with their navigation lights showing. The picture was a noble one as the great vessels with the moon still shining, plowed their way to take part in the surrender of the German U-boats. Soon after the British squadron started the "paravanes" were dropped overboard.

These devices are shaped like tops and divert any mines which may be encountered, for the vessels now were entering a mine field.

Almost everyone on board donned a life-boat and just as the red sun appeared above the horizon the first German submarine appeared in sight.

Soon after 7 o'clock 20 submarines were seen in line, accompanied by two German destroyers, the Tibania and the Sierra Ventana, which were to take the submarine crews back to Germany after the transfer.

All the submarines were on the surface with their hatches open and their crews standing on deck. The vessels were flying no flags whatever and their guns were trained fore and aft in accordance with the terms of surrender.

A bugle sounded on the Curacao and all the gun crews took up their stations, ready for any possible treach-ery.

The leading destroyer, in response to a signal from the Admiral, turned and led the way toward England, and the submarines were ordered to follow. They immediately did so. The surrender had been accomplished.

Each cruiser turned, and, keeping a careful lookout, steamed toward Harwich. On one of the largest of the submarines, which carried two 5.9 guns, 23 officers and men were counted on her deck. The craft was estimated to be nearly 300 feet in length.
Its number had been painted out.

Near the Ship Wash Lightship three large British seaplanes, followed by an airship, were observed. The Harwich forces and the seaplanes and airship made a most impressive sight.

One of the submarine was seen to send out a couple of carrier pigeons and at once a signal was flashed from the Admiral that it had no right to do this.

When the ships had cleared the mine field and entered the war channel the "paravanes" were hauled aboard. On reaching a point some 20 miles off Harwich the ships dropped anchor and Captain Addison came out on the warship Maldstone.

British crews then were put on board the submarines to take them into harbor. With the exception of the engine staffs all the German sailors remained on deck. The submarines then were taken through the gates of the harbor and the German crews were transferred to the transports which will take them back to Germany.

As the boats went through the gates the white ensign was run up on each of them, with the German flag underneath.

Each German submarine commander at the transfer was required to sign a declaration to the effect that his vessel was in running order, that its periscope was intact, that its torpedoes were unloaded and that its torpedo heads were safe.

Orders had been issued forbidding any demonstration, and these instructions were obeyed to the letter. There was complete silence as the submarines surrendered and as the crews were transferred. So ended an historic event and the first portion of the German submarine fleet now is in the hands of the British navy.

The German sailors, when they arrived here, were a sullen, dejected lot.
They were eager to have the whole humiliating business over with. Few raised their eyes until they had at last boarded the German transport Sierra Ventana, which is to take them back to Germany.

Two of the German officers wept.
Another raised his hand to shake with a British officer. The latter refused.
The German's hand fell limply to his side. He turned away, grimly muttering something in his native tongue.

As soon as the fleet of U-boats had arrived at the meeting place—first four divisions of five vessels each, then another of seven—Admiral Tyrwhitt and a party of officers boarded the submarine one by one and searched them diligently for "booby traps."

The huge British airship circled over the German war craft and the two gave a striking picture of the decay to which science and ingenuity have developed navigation in this war, under water and in the air.

WELL-KNOWN FLEMING COUNTY MAN DEAD

(Times-Democrat)

William Dudley, born in this city July 26, 1833, died at 3:30 Wednesday morning at the home of his brother, C.
L. Dudley, in this city, from the infirmities of age. He left here for the west in 1851, going to Illinois and thence to Iowa, making his home for many years at Red Oak, Iowa. He married there, but his wife preceded him to the grave and they left no children. For the most of the past 11 years he has made his home at Park Lake, where he lived in a cottage by himself until age rendered him unable to take care of himself. He was a kindly man and many of the visitors to Parke Lake will have a kindly memory of him. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Harriett D. Ashton, and one brother, C. L. Dudley. The remains will be taken to Red Oak, Iowa, to be deposited beside those of his wife, as he had always desired. C.
L. and F. F. Dudley accompanied them Thursday morning.

ALLIES SEND PROTEST TO NETHERLANDS

Permitted Germans to Cross Limburg, Which Was a Neutrality Violation.

Amsterdam, November 21—A continuous procession of German troops is passing through Limburg, homeward bound, according to the Handelsblad. At least 150,000 will cross the border near Roosteren, where they will be disarmed by the Dutch. Good order is prevailing by direction of the officers.

Paris, November 21 — The Allies have decided to send an official protest to the Dutch government against the violation of Holland's neutrality, as a result of her permitting German troops to cross the province of Lim-burg in their retreat from Belgium, according to the Echo de Paris.

Limburg is an irregular province of Holland, nearly 105 miles in length.
For 28 miles from its lower extremity it lies between Belgium and Rhine province, Germany. At the widest point in this region it is 19 miles between Belgian and German soil. Just north of Sittard, Limburg province narrows down to less than five miles.
It was reported from Paris on November 19 that German troops returning to Germany from Belgium had to cross the Dutch province of Limburg and the charge was made that the passage was made with the sanction of the Dutch authorities.

Mr. William R. Brittingham, who lives at Ellsberry, Ohio, and a graduate of Maysville High School, made a fine record at Ann Arbor, Michigan.
Thirty-three out of 4500 stood the test of examination Field Artillery Officers Camp and he was one of the thirty-three. Hurrah for Billy, he is a good boy and will always shine at the top of the Engineering and Electrical Department.

Mr. Edward F. Breeze left today for Washington, D. C., to resume his duties at the hospital there. He will be located there until December 1st, when he will be transferred to the moving picture developing department, where the movies are made for distribution throughout the country.
His wife will join him in about ten days.

WAR SESSION OF CONGRESS REACHES END

Adjournment Until December 2 Is Agreed Upon—One of the Longest Will Be Followed by "Reconstruction Session."

Washington, November 21 — Adjournment of Congress today until December 2, when the third and last session will convene, was planned by leaders. Passage of the adjournment motion will bring to an end one of the longest sessions in the history of the body, and terminate what will probably be known as the "war session." The session to open a week from next Monday is expected to be largely a "reconstruction session."

With all urgent legislation disposed of only a few previously announced speeches remained today.
The House was expected to vote on the adjournment motion without delay. In the Senate, speeches by Senator Watson of Indiana, and Senator of Illinois, Republicans, criticizing the action of President Wilson in taking over the cable lines after the signing of the armistice, were expected. Senator Reed of Missouri, Democrat, was ready to make a speech on the League of Nations plan when the Senate convened today.

John L. Criswell, of Cynthiana has paid $85 an acre for the farm of C. C.
Roberts, near the Union pike, about 12 miles southwest of Covington, the total price being $15,470. Criswell's object in making a purchase in the northern part of the state is reported to be due to the big advance in farm hands in the district surrounding Harrison county. Some places have sold as high as $400 an acre. Old holdings have been subdivided during the past year, being cut into farms of 100 acres and less.

FRIDAY LAST DAY FOR FILING SUITS

Friday is the last day for filing suits for the December term of the Mason Circuit Court. The following were filed Wednesday:

James O'Brien against Herbert Byar for $2,398 for breach of contract, for costs in the case and for all general and proper relief.

James O'Brien and Anna O'Brien vs. Patrick O'Brien and others is the style of a friendly suit to settle the estate of John O'Brien. They seek to have court refer the case to the Master Commissioner for settlement.

Mike Brown vs. Alvin West and others for goods sold to defendants, Alvin West, doing business as West Produce Co.; F. G. Day, doing business as F. G. Day & Co., and W. P.
Farley doing business as W. P. Farley & Co., for balance on account of $129.75 with interest from September 1, 1918, and for costs, etc.

Patrick Guilfoyle filed suit against Patrick Tierney, Executor of Paul Tierney, deceased. This suit is for the payment of $1500 which the plaintiff claims is due for services rendered during the illness of the decedent.

FINED FOR VAGRANCY

"Col." George Brewer, President of the Ancient Order of Neverseats, with headquarters in this city, was taken before His Honor, Police Judge John L. Whitaker on a charge of vagrancy, and as George could not prove to the satisfaction of the court that he actually had visible means of support, he was fined and costed $50.
There are several other members of the Neverseats who are going to get the same dose if they don't make some kind of a move other than from one corner to another.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

THE NEW GERMANY

The appeal of German women to Mrs. Wilson, wife of the President, and Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House and pacifist fame, reveals the new method of attack, and the fact that Miss Addams acknowledges acquaintance with the three German women who signed the appeals to America hearts through two leading American women shows that the Prussians, in planning the war's strategies, laid the foundation for meeting the very emergency which now confronts them. It is evident that much of the old Germany remains in the saddle.

Germany has changed her political clothes, but in the new garb our old and mysterious acquaintance, the German mind, seems functioning about as before. Prussian militarism may be crushed, but German hypocrisy is doing business as usual.

The new German government suppresses in the German press mention of the express provisions of the armistice to the effect that the German people, if the Allies can prevent it, are not to starve. Then the German people are told that the Allies, by asking the return of railway stock that Germany stole from northern France, Belgium, Russia, etc., indicate a deliberate purpose to exterminate the German people. Will the leaders of Germany never leave off lying? Are they still unable to realize that truth-telling will be to their advantage.

The personnel of the new government is not such as to inspire confidence. Ebbert, a slimy alleged Socialist, who lustily shouted for the war and the kaiser as long as imperial Germany had a chance to win, is chancellor. This is the same Ebbert who moved the expulsion of the independent Socialists when they objected to the invasion and annexation of Belgium, the same Ebbert, who, as the kaiser's agent, went to Rome with German money to corrupt the Italian Socialists, the same Ebbert who applauded the Lusitania slaughter and submarine ruthlessness.

At the elbow of Ebbert is the equally slimy Scheidemann, even a bigger hypocrite. He pretended to believe the war was a defensive one on Germany's part, voted for every war credit, abused himself before the murderers of the Belgians, and was the kaiser's agent in money transactions with the Bolshevik leaders of Russia, and had nothing to say against the eastern traitors. Haase and Dittmann, independent Socialists in the Berlin cabinet, are men with some repute for character, but are no sufficient offset to Ebbert and Scheidemann. And now Erzberger and Dernburg are to be added to Berlin's self-appointed cabinet. Erzberger is a fake liberal as Ebbert and Schoedemann are fake Socialists. He was the distributor of the kaiser slush fund in Switzerland. Concerning Dernburg nothing need be said. Americans grew to know what sort he is during his prolonged stay in this country.

The outside world has no more confidence in the group now in control in Berlin than in the group displaced. Their word is not good and their leadership vastly increases the difficulty of a settlement and permits it to be said that Germany is rotten through and through.

OUR "PEACE WORK" CAMPAIGN

Ten million mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters, and sweethearts are struggling to accomplish the impossible task of compressing the boundless love and affection they have for their boys "over there" in a trifling package which the government says must be only nine by four by three inches and must not weigh over three pounds. It can't be done. Everyone who has tried it says so.

Comes now the efforts of the United War Work campaign and offers a means to get unmeasured treasure to the men across the water with the absolute assurance that every dollar will be spent to the best advantage in getting exactly what the boys want at the best possible prices, and guaranteed to be delivered in good condition. Candy, cigarettes, books, pastry, all these and more will come from the fund which the people of the United States are being asked to contribute.

It started as a war work campaign. It is war work, but the people back home are now calling it the "peace work campaign" and many of them are not forgetting that Christmas and peace originally meant the same thing. They mean that Christmas, 1918, shall be the most glorious and have the greatest significance to the world since first the angel sang together in the morning and proclaimed "Peace on earth, good will towards men."

The voluntary censorship imposed upon newspapers at the beginning of the war has been lifted automatically by the cessation of hostilities. It is to the credit of the journalistic profession in America that there exists not a single instance of abuse of the censorship by a genuinely American newspaper.

REHABILITATION OF OUR WOUNDED

The United States Government is resolved to do its best to restore every wounded American soldier and sailor to health, strength, and self-supporting activity.

Until his discharge from the hospital all the medical and surgical treatment necessary to restore him to health is under the jurisdiction of the military or naval authorities, according to the branch of the service he is in. The vocational training, the re-education and rehabilitation necessary to restore him to self-supporting activity, is under the jurisdiction of the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

If he needs an artificial limb or mechanical appliance the Government will supply it free, will keep it in repair, and renew it when necessary. If after his discharge he again needs medical treatment on account of his disability, the Government will supply it free. While he is in the hospital and while in training afterwards the soldier or sailor will receive compensation as if in service and his family or dependents will receive their allotment.

A wounded soldier or sailor, although his disability does not prevent him from returning to employment without training, can take a course of vocational training free of cost and the compensation provided by the war-risk insurance act will be paid to him and the training will be free, but no allotment will be paid to his family.

Every Liberty Bond holder who holds his bond is keeping up a part of this great work of restoring to health, strength, and usefulness the men who have suffered for their country.

CHARLES W. MARSH, CO-INVENTOR OF HARVESTER, DEAD

Charles W. Marsh, inventor of the Marsh harvester, died at De Kalb, Ill., yesterday morning. Mr. Marsh was one of the pioneers of the agricultural implement industry in Illinois and the west, a contemporary of Cyrus H. McCormick, William Deering, Lewis Steward and Ralph Emerson.

He was born near Coneseon, Canada, March 22, 1834, and had lived near DeKalb since 1849. He and his brother, William W. Marsh, were co-inventors of the Marsh grain harvester, nucleus of the modern automatic combined harvester and binder, now in use throughout the world.

Major-General Leonard Wood, commanding at Camp Funston, Kansas, received on his fifty-eight birthday the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, conferred on him by the French Government ten years ago in recognition of his military services in Cuba and the Philippines. Until the recent law was enacted by Congress American officers were not allowed to receive decorations from foreign governments.

FOOLIN' THE DOC

This story was told by my husband after a two weeks' stay at a base hospital with an attack of the measles. A nurse went around and took the temperature of the sick soldiers, and while her back was turned one soldier, instead of putting the thermometer into his mouth, inserted it into a cup of hot coffee standing near. He handed the thermometer to a passing doctor, who first looked at it and then at the patient.

"My boy," he exclaimed, "you are not dead, but ought to be."

The thermometer registered 120 degrees.

THE WORKING CONDITION SERVICE OF UNCLE SAM

Its Chief Function Is to See That There Is a Majority of Standards For Working Conditions In All Industries.

An outstanding result of the war is to emphasize the basic importance of tools in present civilization. Tools are instruments by which the will of man and the social group is expressed. By tools the forces of nature are made to serve a determined human purpose. Tools are the products of thought and efforts to achieve—they are a material proof of development. In this war period, users of tools have become indispensable agencies for carrying out national purpose. They are the producing arm of the government which must serve the military arm. The tool user who makes the shell is as essential as the gunner who fires it.

It was appreciation of this fundamental principle that convinced the Government that, in order to avoid confusion by multiplicity of orders and standards, labor administration must be centralized. There resulted the proclamation of President Wilson designating the Secretary of Labor as War Labor Administrator. The Government has consistently maintained that production would be furthered by maintaining standards in industry which promoted the health, safety, and betterment of employees.

In order that there might be uniformity of standards for working conditions in all industries, there was created in the Department of Labor the Working Conditions Service. The duties of this Service, as briefly enumerated by the Secretary of Labor, are as follows:

"To examine into working conditions in war industries; to determine the standards as to conditions which should be maintained in those industries; to adopt rules embodying such standards and explaining them; to determine the best means for securing the adoption and maintenance of these standards and to cooperate with State authorities for the above purposes."

Although the organic act creating the Department of Labor provides that the function of the Department shall be, among other things, to improve the working conditions of the wage earners of the United States, the Department had not undertaken specifically work of this character until the urgent need demonstrated by war emergencies. It has become increasingly evident that working conditions have a direct cause and relationship to labor turn-over. Moving many men from civil life to military service made it necessary to exercise the greatest wisdom in utilizing our limited human reserves. The extravagance of a high labor turn-over has been emphasized by prevailing high wages, thus increasing the costs chargeable to labor turn-over. Thus there has come a new interest in bettering working conditions and an appreciation that such betterment has an economic advantage and pays the employer in every sense of the term.

Working conditions in widest sense comprise environment, relations between employer and employee—all that makes up life within the industry. For administrative purposes there are three divisions in the Working Conditions Service—Division of Industrial Hygiene and Medicine, Division of Labor Administration and Division of Safety Engineering. Since there are in operation other agencies with the specialized function of dealing with wages and hours as controversial questions between employers and employees, they will not be dealt with as such by this Service.

The proclamation of the President instructing all governmental departments dealing with public health questions to utilize the United States Public Health Service for that work was a step toward unity of action and purpose in health problems. Industrial health is closely related to community health and the general scientific principles underlying public health problems and industrial health problems are identical. However, organization, methods of operation, special occupational problems in the industrial health field are fundamentally labor problems, affecting directly human relationships and human activity. The formulation of policies for dealing with these phases of industrial health belongs properly to the agencies entrusted with labor administration. Cooperation between the Department of Labor and the Public Health Service for dealing with industrial health problems brings a unified national health policy and action, and at the same time renders the policy and action practical and in accord with needs and ideals of those most concerned. Accordingly, the Secretary of Labor at the request of the Working Conditions Service requested the Secretary of the Treasury to authorize the United States Public Health Service to detail personnel to the Division of Industrial Hygiene and Medicine of the Service. As a result of the agreement reached, Dr. A. J. Lanza, Passed Assistant Surgeon of the Public Health Service, was detailed to act as Chief, Division of Industrial Hygiene and Medicine, Working Conditions Service. Dr. C. D. Selby, of Toledo, Ohio (will be at the head of the Section of Industrial Medicine).

Various employers are appreciative of the fact that output in production is directly influenced by the physical well-being of employees. Preventive methods and medical assistance materially assist in reducing the labor turn-over and in keeping employees in physical condition to do their best work. Accident dangers are comparatively obvious, but the assistance of health experts, sanitarians, and industrial physicians is necessary to discover health hazards. Physical breakdowns, diseases not understood by the ordinary physician, are readily traceable to occupations when occupational hazards are understood. It has become evident that the profession of industrial medicine must be developed, that doctors in plants can assist workers to protect their health by preventive far more effectively than by remedial methods.

The Division of Industrial Hygiene and Medicine will direct the formulation of sanitary and health codes for industries. The direct relation between health and efficiency is not so apparent as the results of sudden and complete disability from accidents. But the loss from decreased efficiency and energy among a number of workers is far greater than the loss from accidents. Cooperation with the United States Public Health Service will make possible extensive research work necessary to establish fundamental scientific principles as the basis for proper working conditions.

In addition to the work which the United States Public Health Service will perform for the Working Conditions Service, it is also authorized to do all inspections and investigations into matters pertaining to the sanitation of plants engaged in war work and into the health of workers in such industries, and into the sanitation and housing conditions surrounding the homes of war workers. In addition, the Ordnance Department of the War Department has delegated responsibility for mechanical safety in ordnance plants. A field force of specialists in industrial hygiene, sanitation, safety and production engineering, technically trained and of broad practical experience, has been organized which will be under the supervision of Bernard J. Newman. This inspection force will necessarily develop data which will be exceedingly valuable to the Working Conditions Service and to the Bureau of Standards in the formulation of codes, and will not only give manufacturers expert service in ways that will help to increase production, but will safeguard the workers from dangerous health hazards and occupational injuries.

The Division of Labor Administration will deal with the attitude and policies of the management toward the employed and the personal relations between employers and employees. It is now generally conceded that the management in production has a greater duty than supplying buildings, materials, tools, and hiring and discharging workers. Once the principles are established that there is a money value to the management in long-time service, in maintaining such relations with employees that they are willing to continue in service of a company, and that placing each worker where he can do his best work, the management becomes interested in industrial safety and sanitation and in the principles of labor administration, or what is commonly known as employment management. There have been approaches to the study of labor administration, known variously as time studies, scientific management, fatigue studies, motion studies, industrial auditing, etc. It has been demonstrated that proper methods of labor administration result in increased production and decreased cost. Reducing the labor turn-over decreases cost of production. The Chief of this Section will be Dr. William M. Leiserson, of Toledo, Ohio. There are already other Federal agencies operating in this field. It is the purpose of the Working Conditions Service to cooperate with these other agencies and to supplement their work by seeking to organize this developing science and to secure for all elements concerned representation in the determination of policies and principles. Labor administration as furthered by this Service is an engineering production problem, modified by the fact that it deals also with human labor power, which is inseparable from human life. It is evident that in addition to the production phases, it must take into consideration all of those human impulses and motives which make up the individual and his desire for progressive self-development. While labor administration will profit by the valuable in scientific management and efficiently methods, it will seek to avoid over-emphasizing regimentation and will endeavor to make its primary objective, so far as the workers are concerned, the development of individual initiative.

The Division of Safety Engineering completes the structure of the Working Conditions Service. Standards for mechanical safety have been more adequately worked out than standards for sanitation and industrial hygiene. Accidents startle and quicken sympathy. They are obviously traceable to working conditions. As a result, compensation legislation has put economic pressure behind efforts to prevent industrial accidents by making it more economical for employers to prevent industrial accidents than to pay compensation. As accident losses were made legitimate burdens upon industry, managements became interested in establishing safe processes. There are now in nearly all of the States of the Union safety codes and agencies charged with the establishment and maintenance of industrial safety. Supplementing Government agencies, the great energizing forces in this field have been the National Safety Council and various technical societies. The policy of the Working Conditions Service is to avoid duplication of work and activity and, by acting as a coordinating agency, to cooperate with the forces already in the field to bring Federal directing impetus in the national campaign for uniformity of safety standards, practices, and equipment, standardization of safety organizations, and for the collection of data necessary for the continuous modification of standards to meet new conditions. The Bureau of Standards has offered its cooperation in the formulation of codes. The assistance of the National Safety Council will be invaluable in securing the practical application of safety standards and practices. The Council has agreed to cooperate with the Working Conditions Service and appointed a committee of five for consultation and advice. The codes which are to be worked out under the Division of Safety Engineering will be the result of experience and experimentation, consultation with technical organizations, and conferences with employers and employees in order to ascertain the necessary practical modifications. Various codes for war industries, when approved by the Secretary of Labor, will be submitted to the War Labor Policies Board in order that the influence of the various agencies represented on that Board may be put behind the labor standards in war production.

The interdigitation of these three divisions, Industrial Hygiene and Medicine, Labor Administration and Safety Engineering, will further the maintenance of principles formulated as an integral part of a general program for working conditions. It is the intention of the Working Conditions Service to seek the cooperation of all agencies and organizations concerned directly or indirectly with working conditions, in order that all

GOOD CAUSE FOR ALARM These Figures Will Make Maysville People Take Notice.

Deaths from kidney disease have increased 72% in twenty years. People overlook nowadays in so many ways that the constant filtering of poisoned blood weakens the kidneys. Beware of fatal Bright's disease. When backache or urinary ills suggest weak kidneys, use Doan's Kidney Pills, live carefully, take things easy and avoid heavy eating. Doan's Kidney Pills command confidence, for no other kidney remedy is so widely used or so generally successful. Home endorsement is the best proof of merit. Read this Maysville resident's story: Miss Dora Edgington, Wood St., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and from the results received, I have every reason to recommend them. At times my kidneys have become weak and have been irregular in action. My back has ached, too, and has been very weak and lame across my kidneys. When I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for this trouble, they have never failed to relieve the complaint in a short time. I gladly advise anyone to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Chaslor's Drug Store, if troubled in that way." Miss Edgington is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the name that Miss Edgington had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60c all stores. standards shall be the results of carefully considered judgments based on experience of all elements in production. There are three ultimate tests—human effects, production, industrial organization. There is need for employers to understand that good business demands conservation and development of the workers whose mental and physical ability conditions production, quantitatively and qualitatively. There is need for workmen to understand that good health, skill, good management, care to prevent accidents, mean to them increasing material well-being and greater opportunities for advancement.

The Director of the Working Conditions Service is Grant Hamilton and the Assistant Director is Florence C. Thorne.

LISTED TO STAMP OUT PROPAGANDA

Chronology Offers Any Arguments For Leniency Toward the Huns.

Chicago, November 21.—To stamp out propaganda of pro-German organizations in America which have strongly urged leniency in dealing with Germany, patriotic societies of the Central West have called attention to the long string of Prussian atrocities that stretch over the four years of war. These excesses referred to in Germany by some statesmen as "boyish pranks of the soldiers," include the bombing of hospitals, sinking hospital ships, poisoning wells, bombing cities and villages, burning cathedrals and needlessly murdering women and children in captured territory. A list of violations of international law intended to show that the treacherous policies of high German officials justified the excesses committed by soldiers in the field opens with the battle on the Belgian frontier on August 5, 1914. Here, in chronological order, are a few of the scores of German crimes against humanity as listed by patriotic organizations:

September 1, 1914—Germans bombard Paris, killing many women and children.
May 7, 1915—Lusitania torpedoed and sunk by German submarine with loss of more than 1,000 lives.
September 9—Germans make air raid on London, killing 20 persons and wounding 100 others, many of them women and children.
October 12—Edith Cavell executed by Germans.
October 9—Italian liner Ancona torpedoed without warning.
March 24, 1916—Steamer Sussex torpedoed and sunk.
October 8—German submarine sinks six merchant steamships off Nantucket, Mass.
November 6—Submarine sinks British passenger steamer Arabia.
November 7—Submarine sinks American steamer Columbian.
November 21—British hospital ship Britannic sunk in Aegean sea.
February 28, 1917—Secretary Lansing exposes Zimmerman attempt to effect a Mexican-Japanese-American alliance against America.

PERMITS FOR THE SHIPMENT OF HOGS MUST BE GOTTEN

Was Agreed On at Cincinnati Wednesday By Superintendents of Freight Terminals.

Hereafter pigs and hogs are to be shipped on permit when they move from the farm to the market in the territory east of the Mississippi to its junction with the Mississippi River, and then east of the Missouri.

This was the solution arrived at to relieve the live stock situation by the Superintendent of Freight Terminals in half a dozen cities after an all-day session in Cincinnati Wednesday at the local offices of the United States Railroad Administration in the Union Central Building.

The conference was called because of the embargo imposed by the Cincinnati Union Stock Yards in common with yards in other cities to relieve the congestion caused by the immense number of hogs accumulating of the weight between 130 and 180 pounds, the accumulation being the result of the Food Administration making 130 pounds the dividing line in fixing the prices.

The conference was presided over by Assistant Federal Director Castle, of the Car Service Section of the United States Railroad, Administration who came on from Washington especially for the purpose. Superintendents of freight terminals were present from Louisville, Indianapolis, Buffalo, Nashville, Cincinnati and other points.

The Missouri River was adopted as a boundary so as to include the packers in Omaha and other further West places.

The conference summoned a number of livestock men before it and learned from them exactly what had prompted the imposition of the embargo as well as conditions following it. The rule adopted by the conference is in brief:

In the territory east of the Mississippi and the Missouri Rivers a permit will be required to ship hogs and pigs from the farm or ranch to a market, but no permit will be required to ship from the market to the packers. Concretely the procedure would be for a farmer desiring to ship hogs to go to his railroad agent and request a permit to ship to a given stock yards. The agent would take the matter up with the railroad superintendent over him. The superintendent in turn would confer with the "Controlling Committee" of the live stock men or the stock yards, and if they were prepared to receive the hogs a permit would be issued.

F. B. Edmunds, general manager of the Cincinnati Union Stock Yards, said the embargo had permitted them to clear many of their pens. He repeated, however, that real relief would only come with making 150 pounds the price dividing weight.

Mrs. Wells of Petersburg Tells How.

Petersburg, Va.—"For two years my daughter suffered from a weakness and pains in her right side; at times she was so bad she could not do any work. For two years she was attended by the best physicians here, and both agreed that she would have to be operated on. I suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and at first she refused to take it, but finally consented. From the very beginning it helped her, and now she is entirely well, and telling everybody how much good it has done her."—Mrs. W. D. Wells, 226 North Adams Street, Petersburg, Va.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Wells did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, sideache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial, they would soon find relief from such suffering. For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years experience is at your service.
